

about us

Keshmeshan Export, as one of the most reputable and well-known brands in the Iranian raisin industry, has gained a special position in domestic and international markets through years of activity in the production, processing, and export of raisins. Our primary goal is to offer the highest quality raisins while ensuring consumer satisfaction. Our raisins are sourced from high-quality grapes grown in Iran's vineyards under strict supervision. These grapes are cultivated in optimal climatic conditions and processed using the latest technologies and standard procedures. The expert team at Keshmeshan Export is always committed to improving and enhancing product quality, striving to deliver an unparalleled experience of natural taste and the health benefits of raisins to customers. Given the increasing demands of global and domestic markets, Keshmeshan Export continuously seeks innovation, research, and development to expand its product range and meet diverse consumer needs.

Types of Raisins

Black Raisins

Keshmeshan Export's black raisins, or "Maviz," are made from black grapes rich in anthocyanins. Due to their anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties, these raisins are particularly effective in boosting the immune system and preventing diseases. In addition to supporting digestive health, black raisins contribute to better skin and hair conditions and promote overall well-being. They are also known for their anti-cancer properties, making them a powerful natural source of energy and body reinforcement. Maviz from Keshmeshan Export is an excellent choice for individuals looking to strengthen their immune system and maintain their health naturally.

Green Raisins

Keshmeshan Export's green raisins are made from fresh, high-quality green grapes grown in specific regions of Iran. These raisins, rich in fiber, vitamins, and minerals, are highly beneficial for digestive health and heart function. Green raisins contain high amounts of potassium and magnesium, which help regulate blood pressure and support proper heart function. Their anti-inflammatory properties also make them effective in preventing diseases such as gout and arthritis. Keshmeshan Export uses modern processing methods to preserve the natural taste and benefits of these raisins, ensuring consumers enjoy a healthy and delicious experience. Green raisins are a fantastic option for those looking for a nutritious and energy-boosting snack.

Golden Raisain

Golden raisins are a type of premium and delicious raisins that acquire their golden color and mild, sweet flavor due to a special processing method where they are dried without direct exposure to sunlight. These raisins are typically made from seedless white grapes and, thanks to their unique drying technique, offer numerous nutritional benefits. Golden raisins are rich in vitamins, minerals, and antioxidants, making them highly beneficial for boosting the immune system, improving digestion, and maintaining healthy skin. Besides being used in various foods such as cakes, desserts, and yogurt, they are also consumed as a healthy and energy-boosting snack.

Sun-Dried Raisins

Keshmeshan Export's sun-dried raisins are among the most natural and healthiest types of raisins. They are dried using traditional methods under the sun, without any chemical additives or artificial processes. This ensures they retain all their natural benefits. Sun-dried raisins from Keshmeshan Export are rich in antioxidants and vitamins, which help strengthen the immune system and promote overall health. Their natural sweetness and mild flavor make them an excellent, nutritious choice for daily consumption. These raisins are especially beneficial for boosting energy levels, improving skin and hair health, and supporting digestive health.

Sultana Raisins

Keshmeshan Export's sultana raisins are among the most popular types of raisins in Iran, widely used in rice dishes and various foods. They have a dark brown color and a slightly tart-sweet taste, adding a unique flavor to meals. These raisins are naturally sun-dried, preserving their full flavor. They are not only popular in Iran but also widely used in traditional and international dishes worldwide. Keshmeshan Export provides high-quality sultana raisins to ensure a delightful and flavorful experience in every meal.
